CHARLESTOWN.

On Tueſday laſt, being the Day appointed to pronounce Sentence upon Thomas Mellichamp, the Priſoner was brought to the Bar, and the Hon. the Chief Juſtice deliver'd his Opinion in manner following.

South-Carolina, ſſ.

Dom: REX contra Thomas Mellichamp, Felony,

For that he feloniouſly a certain Plate did engrave to be uſed in making falſe and counterfit Bills, in faſhion, ſimilitude and Likeneſs of the current and lawful Bills of the Province aforeſaid, commonly called ONE POUND BILLS.

Gentlemen,

I have conſidered your Arguments on both ſides, and the Court being adjourned to this Day, tho' ſome of the aſſiſtant Juſtices do not attend in a Caſe of ſo great Importance, yet, that Juſtice may not be delayed, I ſhall deliver my Opinion on the Points inſiſted on by the Council for the Priſoner for arreſting Judgment in this Caſe.

The Council for the King and for the Priſoner have very ingeniouſly and learnedly run through the Political Hiſtory of the Governments of the Romans and Grecians, and ſhewed the Reaſon and Origine of all Governments, and the Neceſſity of forming Societies for the Preſervation of Mankind, and alſo that ſuch Society ſhould have Power to make Laws for their Wellfare and good Government, without which no Society can long ſubſiſt. All which they plainly ſhew'd, and that it was agreeable to Grotius, Puffendorf and the ingenious Mr. Lock.

From the Arguments of the Council, (if I am not miſtaken) the Points in Queſtion were reduc'd to theſe 2.

Firſt, Whether the Act of this Province, for making the Offence for which the Priſoner ſtands indicted Felony without Benefit of the Clergy, is ſo penned, and can operate, to take away the Force of the Statute of the 25 of Edw. the 3d which allows Clergy in all Felonies at common Law, where it's not expreſly taken away by ſome Statute? Secondly, Whether the King can grant a Power to any Body corporate, Colony or Society of Men to create a new Felony?

I take this laſt Quare to be the Principle, therefore ſhall firſt ſpeak to it, being the Foundation on which the firſt muſt either ſtand or fall to the Ground.

This being premiſed it's requiſite that we conſider our own Conſtitution, which is founded on Reaſon and the Law of Nature, and extracted, refined and collected from the Laws of Nations, calculated as well for the Honour, Strength and Support of the Crown, as for the Freedom, Safety and Wellfare of the People. This Conſtitution thus framed and ſettled by the Wiſdom of our Anceſtors, we have long experienc'd to be ſalutary and good, and may be eſteemed the beſt in the World, being thereby ſecured in the peaceable Enjoyment of our Lives, Liberties, Eſtates, and Properties, free from Oppreſſion and arbitrary Violence, and ſubject to no Laws but thoſe of our own making, that is by King, Lords and Commons in Parliament aſſembled.

Now let us conſider the Priſoner at the Bar as a Britiſh Subject; and who claims the Benefit of all the Laws of his Country, and that no Laws can be made or annulled but in the manner aforeſaid.

Far be it from me, to impeach or queſtion the Validity of any Law of this Province, or the Authority by which it is made; but by my Commiſſion I am required and ſworn to judge between the King and his People, according to the Laws and Statutes of Great Britain and the Laws of this Province, therefore muſt inquire by what Authority they are made, and whether this Law be agreable to the Laws of Great Britain, or can operate to ſuperſede any Law of Britain?

It is allowed that the Laws of this Province are made by the King's Authority, by his Letters Patents or Commiſſion under the Great Seal to his Governor, and in theſe Words, viz. 'You with the Conſent of our ſaid Council 'and Aſſembly, or the major part of them reſpectively, 'ſhall have full Power and Authority to make, conſtitute, 'and ordain Laws, Statutes and Ordinances for the publick 'Peace, Wellfare and good Government of our ſaid Pro'vince, and of the People and Inhabitants thereof, and 'ſuch others as ſhall reſort thereto, and for the Benefit of 'us, our Heirs and Succeſſors, which ſaid Laws, Statutes 'and Ordinances are not to be repugnant, but as near as 'may be agreable to the Laws & Statutes of this our King'dom of Great Britain.

By the Inſtruction to the Governor,

'You are hereby required not to paſs or give your con'ſent to any Bill or Bills in the Aſſembly of the ſaid Pro'vince of an unuſual and extraordinary Nature & Impor'tance, wherein his Majeſty's Prerogative, or the Proper'ty of his Subjects may be prejudiced, or the Trade or 'Shipping of this Kingdom any ways affected, until you 'ſhall have firſt tranſmitted unto us the Draught of ſuch 'Bill or Bills, and have received his Majeſty's Pleaſure 'thereupon, unleſs you take care upon paſſing any ſuch 'Bill or Bills as before mentioned that there be a Clauſe 'inſerted therein, ſuſpending and deferring the Execution 'until his Majeſty's Pleaſure be known concerning the 'ſame, which you are likewiſe to obſerve in the paſſing 'all Acts that ſhall repeal any Act or Acts that have had 'the Royal Aſſent.

By another inſtruction,

'You are to take care that no Man's Life, Member, 'Freehold or Goods be taken away or harm'd in the ſaid 'Province, otherwiſe than by the eſtabliſhed and known 'Laws of this Kingdom.

Theſe Reſtrictions are worthy to be noted, and well become the Wiſdom and Goodneſs of a Britiſh Prince, who is graciouſly pleaſed to inveſt his Subjects with Power neceſſary to make Laws for their Wellfare and good Government; but at the ſame time to preſerve the Conſtitution, and caution them not to abuſe or exceed the Power given them, which ſhews that he neither will nor can legally countenance them ſo to do. I am in Duty bound to ſupport and maintain the juſt Prerogatives of the Crown; I am alſo bound to defend and protect all his Majeſty's Subjects in the safe and free Enjoyment of their Lives, Liberties, Estates and Properties, so far as by Law I may, and as I would by no means suffer the Prerogative of the Crown to be lessened, so I wou'd be careful not to extend it to the prejudice of the People, nor to encroach on the Liberties of the Subject.

Now let us consider the Law first, by what Authority it's made? Secondly how far that Authority can operate to change, Supersede or Annul any Law of Great Britain?

It's allowed that this Law is made by virtue of the King's Commission or Letters Patents under the broad Seal, therefore can be of no more or greater Force than is given by such Commission or Letters Patents. Here I must observe a certain Maxime, that no one can grant more than he has, and it's well known that the King by his Prerogative can neither make, annul or surpersede any Law, nor Alien the Revenues of the Crown, consequently he cannot delegate such Power to any Body Corporate, Colony or Society of Men.

Now if this Law thus made by the Authority aforesaid, or Prerogative of the Crown be of Force and valid in Law, it must affect the Lives, Liberties, Estates and Properties of the Subject, Alien the Revenues of the Crown, Annul and Supersede the Statute of the 25 of Edw the 3d and Magna Charta, wherein it's declared that no one shall be gone upon, or proceeded against, but by the Law of the Land, that is by legal process. In fine if this Law be valid and of Force, it oversets our whole Constitution: For if the King by his Prerogative can in this Case delegate a Power to his Subjects in America, to make Laws of this extraordinary Nature, and that they shall be deemed good and valid in Law, he may do it in all other Cases, and then we must no longer boast of our Freedom as British Subjects, but relinquish our Claims to all our excellent Laws, and depend on the absolute Will and Pleasure of the Crown, which I conceive is not our Case at present. And for these Reasons I am of Opinion that this Act exceeds the Power granted by the King's Commission, and is repugnant to the Laws of Britain, therefore by the King's Instructions ought not to operate to affect the Lives, Liberties, Estates and Properties of the People, nor to Alien the Revenue of the Crown, by giving away the Goods and Chattles of Felons, nor to Annul and Supersede Magna Charta and the Statute of the 25 of Edw. the 3d, all which it must do if in Force and can operate in this Case.

To conclude, the Fact for which the Prisoner at the Bar stands indicted not being Felony at common Law, nor by Statute Law, nor by the Law of the Land, as it is expressed in Magna Charta, I am of Opinion for these and the Reasons before mentioned, that this Law cannot operate so as to make the Prisoner Guilty of Felony, and that Judgment be arrested.

Robert Wright.

Upon which Thomas Lamboll, Esq. being the only one of the assistant Justices then present gave his Judgment as follows.

Dom: REX contra Thomas Mellichamp, Felony,

The Prisoner being convicted of Felony upon the Act of Assembly, for engraving a Copper plate to stamp Bills in the Fashion, Similitude and Likeness of the Current ONE POUND Paper Bills of Credit of this Province, and afterwards by his Council having prayed the Benefit of Clergy and moved in arrest of Judgment several Objections, I have considered thereof, and it seemeth to me he cannot have his Clergy, the same being expresly taken away by the Law which creates the Felony. And I am of Opinion to over-rule the Objections, and give Judgment against the Prisoner upon the Conviction for these Reasons following: For that his Majesty has granted Power to pass all necessary Laws here, (as well Sanguinary as Pecuniary) which are Consonant to Reason, and not repugnant to the Laws of Great-Britain, and this Act of Assembly, whereupon the Prisoner stands convicted, was duely passed by his Majesty's Authority; namely by his Governor and Council, pursuant to the Royal Commission and Instructions, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Assembly of this Province, representing the whole Body of the People thereof, who have derived from their Ancestors and are intitled to all the Rights, Priviledges and Liberties of English Men which they had in their Mother Country, and retain'd and brought over with them hither, in their first Colony, especially that of giving their Consent by their legal Representatives to such good and wholesome Laws for the Government of the whole Community, as should be binding upon every individual Member of them: This is not only agreeable to the Reason of the common Law, but to Magna Charta and other Statutes, and also the Example's both of our Mother Country (which we are to follow as near as conveniently may be) and of our neighbouring Colonies, who have and do continue to exercise (as Necessity and the Quality of the Offence requires) a Power of passing Laws, and creating new Felonies with Punishments and Sanctions, sanguinary and pecuniary, for the Security of publick and private Property, and without which no Society could subsist, but would inevitably run into Rapine, Violence and Confusion. And this Act of Assembly not being repealed by his Majesty, must be observed and held to be a Law in full Force.

So much for the Power on which the said Act of Assembly is founded. As for Precedents of Law of the like Nature, there is no need to look further than the Statute of the 2d Year of his present Majesty, which (amongst other things) makes it Felony without Benefit of Clergy for any person falsly to make, forge or counterfeit, or cause, or procure to be falsely made, forged or counterfeited, or willingly act or assist in the falsely making, forging or counterfeiting any Promissory Note for the Payment of Money, with Intention to defraud any person.

Upon the whole, Justice and my Office oblige me to give my Judgment, that Sentence of Death be pronounced upon Thomas Mellichamp the Prisoner at the Barr.

Tho: Lamboll.
